

Aruna Malapati is an Associate Professor at Computer Science & Information Science department of Birla Institute of Technology and Science – Pilani, Hyderabad campus. She completed her PhD from National Institute of Technology – Karnataka in 2009 and joined the Computer Science & Information Science department of Birla Institute of Technology and Science – Pilani, Hyderabad campus in June 2010. She has worked as senior software developer at Atmyside Ltd. London, and as a visiting researcher at Centrum Wiskunde & Informatica (CWI), Netherlands. She is a recipient of Young engineer of the year 2007 award from Andhra Pradesh state government and the Institution of Engineers AP state center, Women in education award –2017 from The Dewang Mehta National Education Awards, and Prof. Indira Parikh 50 Women in Education Leaders citation at the 6th World Education Congress – 2017.